

Chapter Four

Reading the Signs

*"Look and you will find it;
what is unsought will go undetected."*

—Sophocles

Signs are immensely powerful: a stop sign at the corner keeping us safe from oncoming traffic; twinkling stars that send us celestial messages; whispers from the Universe kindly directing us in the right direction.

Signs speak to us, encourage us, and cheer us on. They take an ordinary journey and make it divine. Signs are serendipity personified; a happy accident that isn't so accidental. They are our fortunes.

If you're a human being, the Universe is sending you signs everyday, in every moment, in every way. The key is to pay attention, to be open to the interpretations and to accept the abundance given to you.

Think back to a sign you've received. Was it a telling dream, so vivid and real that you woke up knowing what your next step should be? Was it a coincidental meeting? An out-of-the-blue phone call from an old friend who had sage advice? Popping open a favorite book and having the words jump off the page and into your heart, with a message you needed right at that moment?

In this chapter, we'll look at Road Signs the Universe gives you throughout your journey. Take the time to look for signs in your life. Make note of a sign that you see often. What does it really mean? Where is it leading you?
